GEOLOGY.—In the Preface to the Student's "ELEMENTS of GEOLOGY," by Sir CHARLES LYELL, price 9*s.*, he says:—"As it is impossible to enable the reader to recognise rocks and minerals at sight by the aid of verbal descriptions or figures, he will do well to obtain a well-arranged collection of specimens, such as may be procured from Mr. TENNANT (149 Strand), Teacher of Mineralogy at King's College, London." These collections are supplied on the following terms, in plain mahogany cabinets:—

100 specimens, in cabinet, with three trays	2	2	0
200 specimens, in cabinet, with five trays	5	5	0
300 specimens, in cabinet, with nine drawers ..	10	10	0
400 specimens, in cabinet, with thirteen drawers ..	21	0	0

More extensive collections at 50 to 5,000 guineas each.

PROFESSOR TENNANT'S LECTURES on MINERALOGY, applied to GEOLOGY and the ARTS, at King's College, are given on Wednesday and Friday Mornings, from 9 to 10, and on Thursday Evenings from 8 to 9. The public are admitted on paying the College fees. The Lectures begin early in October and terminate at Easter.

CRYSTAL PALACE.—The First of the Series of SATURDAY CONCERTS and Afternoon Promenades will take place on Saturday, October 6, at 3. SAPPHO:

A TRAGEDY IN FIVE ACTS.

By STELLA,

Author of "Records of the Heart," "The King's Stratagem; or, the Pearl of Poland," &c.

Opinions of the British Press, &c.

"It presents us with a vivid picture of the violet-crowned Lesbian.
Daily Telegraph.

"The play is full of fire and force, and is thoroughly readable."
Graphic.

"'Sappho' shows distinct dramatic power. It has not only the profound interests of passion, but it has variety, and reach, and distinct grasp of contrasted individualities."—Nonconformist.

"It is by no means wanting in power, and there are occasional strokes of genuine dramatic art."—The Scotsman.

"Since Justice Talfourd published his wonderful play of 'Ion,' without a perusal of which a celebrated author said no education could be pronounced complete, no Greek play has received so much attention as the Sappho of Stella."—Western Mail.

"In the present tragedy the well-known American poetess Estella Delmonté Lewis, under the nom de plume of Stella—'the female Petrarch' of Lamartine, and not unjustly styled herself 'the Sappho of America'—has enshrined the beauty and woes of her heroine in a five-act drama, cast throughout in a most classical mould, and reviving in the nineteenth century the very structure as well as the spirit of Sophocles and the Greek stage. A work like this implies boldness of no ordinary character; but from the opening scene at Sappho's house in Mitylene down through all the phases of her life and sorrow, to her suicide at the fatal rock of Leucate, from which she springs into the sea, the ambition is thoroughly sustained, the result being a composition of marvellous power and energy, reminding us of Talfourd's 'Ion,' and not unfrequently of Shakespeare himself."—Liverpool Mercury.

"Stella's verse is at once elegant and vigorous, and it is gemmed with passages of which the truth and beauty render them worthy to become proverbs. From the opening scene in Sappho's house at Mitylene to the sad close at Leucate's fatal rock the lofty strain is sustained with unusual power. The work in every respect is one of very great merit."
The Northern Whig.

"Vigour, variety, and incessant motion are the principal characteristics of Stella's tragedy. It recalls 'The Stranger,' 'Pizarro,' and 'The Robbers.' It is a drama of marvellous interest and energy, and has received very warm encomiums on both sides of the Atlantic."
The Dundee Advertiser.

"There are some passages which would, when acted, electrify an audience, and many more which will delight the reader by their fine imaginativeness and glowing words."—Sheffield Independent.

"When the tragedy has been read for its plot and its incidents, we can turn back upon it to appreciate calmly the many poetic beauties with which its pages are studded. It sparkles with brilliant passages."
Edinburgh Courant.

"Not only as a poem is it replete with many passages of vigorous feeling and intense energy, but as an acting play its dramatic treatment and genuine pathos would make it an invaluable addition to a manager's répertoire."—Pictorial World.

"Stella's 'Sappho' is a very charming production, full of poetic fervour, and marked by impulses of the tenderest and most generous character.....Enough that she has been inspired by her subject to compass the successful attainment of a high place amongst dramatic poets; a position which will not be denied to her by those who can appreciate elegance and refinement of diction, when combined with the vigorous treatment demanded by the conditions of legitimate tragedy, and above all of the Greek drama."—Derby Mercury.

"Jusqu'à Stella, Sappho n'a point trouvé d'interpréte parmi les personnes de son sexe."—La République des Lettres.

"Stella, who is styled the female Petrarch in Lamartine's 'Cours de Littérature,' has just brought out a new edition of 'Sappho; a Tragedy.' It is dedicated to her devoted friend Ristori.....An Italian version will shortly appear."—The Hornet.

"The play has many beauties. The love of the poet for Phaon, his desertion of her, her following him to Sicily, and her suicide from the rock of Leucaté, are the main points adopted from the old legends. The authoress has, however, employed an old device, of which we have one very good illustration in the 'Seven Sages,' a mediæval romance, of making Sappho and Phaon fall deeply in love with each other before their actual meeting, in dreams.....The passionate nature of the Tenth Muse, her yearning for love, the intense bitterness of her sorrow when deserted, and her self-communing when she stands on the verge of the dread world of shadows, are forcibly delineated, and there are passages of much beauty."
Birmingham Daily Post.

"'Sappho' belongs to that class of books which please the more the more frequently they are read."—Saunders's News Letter.

London: Trübner & Co., 57 and 59 Ludgate Hill, and all Booksellers.

10 Southampton Street, Strand: October 6, 1877.

SAMUEL TINSLEY'S NEW PUBLICATIONS.

NOTICE.—IMPORTANT NEW WORK BY MR. GALLENGA.

TWO YEARS of the EASTERN QUESTION.

By A. GALLENGA (of the Times), Author of "Italy Revisited," "Country Life in Piedmont," "The Invasion of Denmark," &c. 2 vols. 8vo, 28*s.*

The Times says:—"A more thorough exposure of the rottenness of the Turkish system was never penned; and Mr. Freeman and Mr. Gladstone must rejoice when they peruse page after page which, to use a familiar expression, does not leave on the Turks 'the face of a dog.'.....But Mr. Gallenga did not visit Constantinople to quarrel, but to observe the various phases of the Eastern Question as it passed from diplomatic remonstrances to provincial outbreaks, to Bulgarian atrocities, to the Servian war, to the Armistice, to the Conference, to renewed Protocols, and at last to this war between Russia and Turkey.....Extraordinary opportunities fell into Mr. Gallenga's way, and in these very interesting volumes he has availed himself of them to the full."

The Observer says:—"The great merit of these two interesting volumes is that they present the grave considered judgment of an intelligent, thoughtful observer on the internal condition of Turkey.....For anyone who would really know the social forces now at work within the Turkish Empire, and who would aspire to make any intelligent forecast as to its future fate, these volumes are invaluable guides.....The book is at once fascinating and amusing, and in many ways the best recent contribution to the literature of the Eastern Question."

The Saturday Review says:—"Mr. Gallenga's reminiscences of the East are both agreeable and instructive. Notwithstanding his long practice as an English writer, it is surprising that a foreigner should have acquired the command of style and literary skill which are displayed in his present work as in many former publications."

The Graphic says:—"Mr. Gallenga's letters are most interesting in every way—bright with the genuine freshness of a correspondent who finds himself on (to him) new ground, and enjoys as much as any of his readers a moonlight ride round Stamboul, a visit to the fields of Troy, a sight of the Sultan opening his Parliament; valuable for descriptions, by a trained observer, of scenes and institutions which fell beneath his eye, and speculations, by a well-informed politician, on the scruples and suspicions which have ended in keeping Europe impotent while Russia and Turkey are closing hand to hand.....Two volumes, altogether, which bid fair to acquire permanent value as graphic records taken on the spot of some of the most dramatic incidents in history."

The Academy says:—"Mr. Gallenga has given a detailed account of the circumstances which led to the present war, beginning from the commencement of the insurrection in the Herzegovina. As he resided at Constantinople during the whole of this period, and had special facilities for obtaining information as the correspondent of the Times newspaper, his narrative is of great value. He went there with an unprejudiced mind, having, in fact, given but little attention to the subject until that time.....Mr. Gallenga also initiates us into most of the questions relating to Turkey, on which the reader desires an unbiassed opinion—the good and bad of the character of the Turks themselves, their finances, their reforms, their relation to the subject races, and the principal influences that are at work among them.....But the interest of his narrative culminates in that group of events which are exciting enough for any work of fiction."

POPULAR NEW THREE-VOLUME NOVELS.

AGAINST HER WILL. By Annie L. Walker, Author of "A Canadian Heroine." 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.*

The SPECTATOR says:—"Altogether 'Against Her Will' is a clever, wholesome novel, which we can recommend without reservation."

"There is a great deal that is deserving of praise, and very little to find fault with.....'Against Her Will' is a novel of sterling merit."—Scotsman.

TRUE WOMEN. By Katharine Stuart. 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.*

"This novel is strong where so many are weak.....We know of no book in which the act of courtship is made so pretty and poetical, or in which the tenderest sentiment is so absolutely free from mawkishness."—Standard.

The RECTOR of OXBURY: a Novel. By James B. Baynard. 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.*

"This is a very good novel, written throughout in a generous catholic spirit.....The book is full of kindly humour, and we heartily recommend it to our readers."—Standard.

"No doubt the real hero of this history is not the Rector, but the Dissenting minister, whose sufferings at the hand of his congregation are so graphically depicted.....The change which comes over poor Philip Holland's feelings.....is drawn with considerable power and dramatic skill."—John Bull.

"The author has evidently a most intimate acquaintance with the Dissenting body, and a thorough knowledge of all their quirks and oddities.....The three Church clergymen—the vicar of St. Jude's, Mr. Maxforth, and Mr. Deane—are all good sketches."—Morning Post.

"The constraints.....of Nonconformity are described with point and cleverness."—World.

"There is much matter in it that will prove interesting to many who care to look into the realities of daily life, its pains and trials.....Mr. Baynard presents us with a vivid picture."—The Queen.

"An interesting novel, and the spirit in which it is written is very praiseworthy."—Scotsman.

"These volumes are very readable, and there is much in them both to amuse and instruct."—National Church.

"We do not believe that Mr. Baynard writes in an unkindly spirit."—Literary World.

"It will prove a valuable addition to the literature of Church defence."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

"For both Churchmen and Dissenters it has attractions rarely to be met with. The writer is evidently master of the realities which, in the form of fiction, he so effectively pourtrays in these volumes."—Coventry Standard.

"We can confidently recommend the 'Rector of Oxbury' to our Nonconformist friends."—South Durham Herald.

"This book is readable, and the author's style is good. It has considerable interest as a testimony against Dissent in its social aspects; and a revelation of the interior life of certain sects, whose ministers are their servants in a servile and irritating sense, unsuspected by the world outside these communities."—Spectator.

"The picture we have in these volumes.....will come upon most readers altogether as a startling revelation of certain aspects of Voluntaryism."—Graphic.

A VERY OLD QUESTION: a Novel. By T. Edgar Pemberton, Author of "Under Pressure," &c. 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.*

"For 'tis a question left us yet to prove,
Whether love lead fortune or else fortune love."—Hamlet.

The SIEGE of VIENNA: a Novel. By Caroline Pichler. (From the German.) 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.*

The TRUST: an Autobiography. By Jean Le Peur. 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.* [This day.

The HOUSE of CLARISFORD: A Prophecy. By Frederick Woodman. 3 vols. 31*s.* 6*d.* [Next week.

"Thrice lost and thrice banned,
When the younger fell by the elder's hand;
Clarisford's line will be warped and crost,
Till Clarisford's heir is lost, lost, lost."

POPULAR NEW NOVELS, &c.,

EACH COMPLETE IN ONE VOLUME.

MERRY and GRAVE. By Peter Athelby. Crown 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.*

The BURIED PAST: a Novel. Crown 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.*

The BRIDE of ROERVIG. By W. Bergsoe. Translated from the Danish by Nina Francis. Crown 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.*

"A charmingly fresh and simple tale, which was well worth translating, and has been translated well."—Athenaeum.

"There is a strong human interest throughout the story, and it abounds with little snatches of description which are full of poetic grace and charm.....The translator has been most successful in preserving the spirit and genuine Norse flavour of the original." Scotsman.

A DISCORD. By Aleth Williams. 1 vol. crown 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.*

"Something more than ordinary praise is due to a story which has a leading idea of its own, and works it out steadily, yet without wearying the reader with excessive iteration or exaggeration.....'A Discord' reminds us of some of Miss Sewell's best works. We should almost be disposed to give it the preference, on the ground that the human interest is broader. Sometimes we see traces of another and well-known influence. Mr. Price is a person not unworthy of the gallery of portraits which George Eliot has given to us."—Spectator.

DAISY and the EARL. By Constance Howell. Crown 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.*

"A cleverly and thoughtfully-written book, in which a subject comparatively new is handled with much knowledge of human nature, and with real grace of manner, is 'Daisy and the Earl.'.....This is the story which Miss Howell tells in a very enjoyable volume." Scotsman.

"The Earl's character is very true to life.....Daisy and her surroundings are natural and pretty; her home and relations form a nice picture of country life."—East Suffolk Gazette.

"This is, in many respects, a somewhat remarkable novel. The author writes with ease and vivacity.....There is a charming air of freshness and innocence about the book.....It is an idyll in prose. It is only the story of the love of a young girl for an earl, but it is told very charmingly.....It is a pastoral in prose."—Essex Telegraph.

"There are a couple of amusing old maids in the story, named Penelope and Jemima, and a rather curious specimen of the bookworm in the person of David Burgoyne."—Dundee Advertiser.

"A very pleasant, quietly-written story, the author of which has shown considerable skill, not only in the plan of her work, but also in the manner in which it is treated. The descriptive portions of the narrative are especially good."—City Press.

"The end is satisfactory, and there is much of a peculiar kind of prettiness throughout the story."—Court Circular.

"Daisy is very natural and rather charming. She is very nice when she says to her grandmother, 'Grannie, I want to be married—I want to be married. You must engage me to somebody, quickly, please.' We shall hope to meet Miss Howell again."—Academy.

"All this is prettily told.....The book is well written, and the interest is not allowed to flag. The author promises to do well, and we trust that she will not let the opportunity slip of developing those talents which we are sure she possesses in no mean degree. Civil Service Review.

"Will live as a poem of permanent power and charm. It will receive high appreciation from all who can enter into its meaning for its graphic and liquid pictures of external beauty, the depth and truth of its purgatorial ideas, and the ardour, tenderness, and exaltation of its spiritual life."—Spectator.

"I have lately been reading a new poem which has interested me very much—a poem called 'The Epic of Hades.' Many of you may never have heard of it; most of you may never have seen it. It is, as I view it, another gem added to the wealth of the poetry of our language."—Mr. Bright's Speech on Cobden, July 25, 1877.

TRANSCAUCASIA and ARARAT. Being Notes of a Vacation Tour in the Autumn of 1876. By JAMES BRYCE, Author of "The Holy Roman Empire," &c. With an Illustration and Map.

The Athenaeum says:—"Mr. Bryce has written a lively and, at the same time, an instructive description of the tour he made last year in and about the Caucasus. When so well-informed a jurist travels into regions seldom visited, and even walks up a mountain so rarely scaled as Ararat, he is justified in thinking that the impressions he brings home are worthy of being communicated to the world at large, especially when a terrible war is casting a lurid glow over the countries he has lately surveyed."

NEW and CHEAPER EDITION, crown 8vo, 12*s.* 6*d.*

The PRINCIPLES of SCIENCE. A Treatise on LOGIC and SCIENTIFIC METHOD. By W. STANLEY JEVONS, F.R.S., Professor of Political Economy in University College, London.

"No one can doubt that he has hit upon a most beautiful, complete, and compendious method of summarising the laws of abductive reasoning, one which includes all the old rules of the syllogism and the doctrine of fallacies in a logical calculus of admirable simplicity and exactness; nor, again, can it be questioned that in discussing the methods of scientific investigation he has shown a far wider command and far more accurate knowledge of the whole range of physical science and of mathematics than either Mr. J. S. Mill or any other competent English logician. In fact, no one in future can be said to have any true knowledge of what has been done in the way of logical and scientific method in England without having carefully studied Prof. Jevons' book."

Spectator.

PROTEUS; or, UNITY in NATURE. By C. B. RADCLIFFE, M.D., Author of "Vital Motion as a Mode of Physical Motion," &c. Second Edition. 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.* [This day.

HISTORY of EUROPEAN COLONIES. By E. J. PAYNE, M.A. Being a New Volume of the Historical Course for Schools, edited by E. A. FREEMAN, D.C.L., LL.D. With Maps, 18mo, 4*s.* 6*d.*

SHAKSPERE PRIMER. By Professor DOWDEN. 18mo, 1*s.*

The Academy says:—"Professor Dowden's 'Primer' is sound and helpful throughout. The book is a great boon to Shakspere students, and will set them in the only way by which they can reach their goal. A copy of it should be with every copy of Shakspere throughout the world. It is the best shillingsworth of Shakspere criticism in existence, and should sell by the hundred thousand."

A TREATISE on CHEMISTRY. By H. E. ROSCOE, F.R.S., and C. SCHORLEMMER, F.R.S., Professors of Chemistry in Owens College, Manchester. Vol. I. THE NON-METALLIC ELEMENTS. With numerous Illustrations and Portrait of Dalton, 8vo, 21*s.*

"Regarded as a treatise on the non-metallic elements, there can be no doubt that this volume is incomparably the most satisfactory one of which we are in possession."

Spectator.

The PSALMS LITERALLY RENDERED in VERSE. By the MARQUIS OF LORNE. With Three Illustrations. Crown 8vo, 7*s.* 6*d.*

The Athenaeum says:—"His version is such an improvement upon Rous that it will be surprising should it not supplant the old version in the Scottish Churches..... On the whole it would not be rash to call Lord Lorne's the best rhymed Psalter we have."

FIFTH AND CHEAPER EDITION, in One Vol. crown 8vo, price 6*s.*

LOG-LETTERS FROM the "CHALLENGER." By Lord GEORGE CAMPBELL. With Map, 8vo, 12*s.* 6*d.*

"A delightful book, which we heartily commend to a general reader."—Saturday Review.

"We do not hesitate to say that anything so fresh, so picturesque, so generally delightful, as these log-letters has not appeared among books of travel for a long time."

Examiner.

"A more lively and amusing record of travel we have not had the fortune to read for some time. The whole book is pervaded by a spirit of life, animation, and fun."

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC

Purifies and Enriches the Blood.
Strengthens the Nerves and Muscular System.
Promotes Appetite and Improves Digestion.
Animates the Spirits and Mental Faculties.
Thoroughly recruits the general bodily health, and induces a proper healthy condition of the Nervous and Physical Forces.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC.

Bottles containing 32 measured doses, 4*s.* 6*d.*
Sold by all Chemists.

In the preparation of this Tonic the greatest care is exercised. It is a faithful compound of Quinine, the active principle of Yellow Cinchona, or Peruvian Bark, blended with a refined trustworthy preparation of Iron, produced in a form which the experience of many years has proved the best. It offers a ready means of gaining the strength and other benefits afforded by Quinine and Iron, without any fear of ill consequences.—The name of J. PEPPER is signed in red ink on the label.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—A fluid combination for Derangement of the Liver, particularly when arising from slight congestion. By gently stimulating the action of the liver and slightly moving the bowels, the heavy, drowsy feeling, with sensations of fulness, headache, pain beneath the shoulders, and other indications of Dyspepsia are removed. Taraxacum and Podophyllin is much safer than calomel or blue pill, and quite as effective for removing bile.—Prepared by J. PEPPER, 237 Tottenham Court Road, London, whose name must be on the label.—Bottles 2*s.* 9*d.* and 4*s.* 6*d.* each. Sold by all Chemists.

LOCKYER'S SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER. Large bottles, 1*s.* 6*d.* Restores the Colour to grey hair in a few days. The best, safest, and cheapest. Quite equal to expensive ones. Sold by Chemists and Hairdressers.

WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS COMPANY (Limited).

WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS is allowed by upwards of 500 Medical gentlemen to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of HERNIA. The use of the steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided, a soft bandage being worn around the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER, fitting with so much ease and closeness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep. A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss (which cannot fail to fit) forwarded by post, on the circumference of the body two inches below the hips being sent to the Manufacturer,

Mr. WHITE, 228 Piccadilly, London.
